DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. In view of the arguments filed on 5/22/2003, PROSECUTION IS HEREBY REOPENED. A new rejection is set forth below.

To avoid abandonment of the application, appellant must exercise one of the following two options:

- (1) file a reply under 37 CFR 1.111 (if this Office action is non-final) or a reply under 37 CFR 1.113 (if this Office action is final); or,
- (2) request reinstatement of the appeal.

If reinstatement of the appeal is requested, such request must be accompanied by a supplemental appeal brief, but no new amendments, affidavits (37 CFR 1.130, 1.131 or 1.132) or other evidence are permitted. See 37 CFR 1.193(b)(2).

Drawings

2. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the clear fourth layer of claim 27 must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Specification

3. The use of the trademark mylar (page 10) has been noted in this application. It should be capitalized wherever it appears and be accompanied by the generic terminology.

Although the use of trademarks is permissible in patent applications, the proprietary nature of the marks should be respected and every effort made to prevent their use in any manner which might adversely affect their validity as trademarks.

4. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

1. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because at [0053], line 7, "are disclosed" is inappropriate. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 25-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 25, line 1, "relatively flexible" is recited which is unclear in the context of the specification. Specifically, it is unclear what the applicant means by this phrase and to what degree of flexibility the liner exhibits.

In claim 26, line 1, "relatively inflexible" is vague, indefinite, and unclear as to what features of the invention the applicant intends to recite. Specifically, the specification is unclear as to the degree of flexibility (or inflexibility) of the liner and only broadly states that "a relatively inflexible bedliner may be advantageous and in other cases a relatively flexible bedliner may be advantageous". This is not sufficient to support the claim language since the degrees of flexibility are not defined.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 21-22 and 25-26, as best understood, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kamiya et al.

Kamiya et al. disclose an article for a vehicle comprising in combination: a first base layer; a patterned second layer secured to the first base layer; and a clear third layer 10 secured to the patterned layer for permitting the patterned layer to be viewed.

The base layer can apparently be an elastic resin sheet such as polyurethane resin and is therefore considered a foam layer.

The article exhibits excellent elasticity and can be flexed; therefore the article is relatively flexible.

With regard to the "bedliner" recitation in the preamble of the claim, this language is not believed to limit the claim. Specifically, the claim preamble has the import that the claim as a whole suggests for it. In this case, the body of the claim makes no mention to any specific features that a bedliner would possess (such as a lip or wheel well cover) and the preamble merely states the purpose or intended use of the invention, rather than any distinct definition of any of the claimed invention's limitations. Therefore, the preamble is not considered a limitation and is of no significance to claim construction. See Kropa v. Robie, 187 F.2d at 152, 88 USPQ2d at 480-81 and MPEP 2111.02).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 23-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kamiya et al. as applied to claim 21 above and further in view of Okada et al.

Kamiya et al. do not disclose the patterned layer being monochromatic or polychromatic.

Okada et al. teach a screen printing method for carrying out not only a monochromatic printing but also a polychromatic or multi-color printing.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have allowed the patterned layer of Kamiya et al. to be monochromatic or polychromatic as taught by Okada et al. in order to provide a variety of designs for the article.

8. Claim 27 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kamiya et al. as applied to claim 21 above and further in view of Sada et al.

Kamiya et al. lack a clear fourth layer on the clear third layer.

Sada et al. teach a coating structure for vehicles with a plurality of clear coating layers, numbered 22, 22', which may be placed one upon another to obtain further improved brilliancy of the structure.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have applied an additional clear layer as taught by Sada et al. upon the clear third layer of Kamiya et al. in order to improved the brilliancy of the article.

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
